

Humanistic Mathematics Network Journal #17

May 1998

From the Editor

| | |
|---|--|
| Robert Davis: In Memoriam 1 Carolyn A. Maher, Robert Speiser Randal Bishop Plunges Into 4-D Space 3 C. Ernesto S. Lindgren The Use of Realistic Imagery to Represent the Relationships in a Four-Dimensional Coordinate System 5 Randal J. Bishop Thinking About the Preparation of Teachers of Elementary School Mathematics 12 Jane Wenstrom, Kathleen Martin, Susan King Platonism and All That 16 Bob Burn Real Data, Real Math, All Classes, No Kidding 17 Martin Vern Bonsangue | Problems That Matter: Teaching Mathematics as Critical Engagement 23 Jeffrey Bohl Book Review: The Courage To Teach 32 Sandra L. Keith On Solving Equations, Negative Numbers, and Other Absurdities: Part I 35 Ralph A. Raimi The Poetics of $E=MC^2$ 43 Richard A. Schwartz Death, Trial and Life 45 Prem N. Bajaj The Smarandache Semantic Paradox 48 Anthony Begay In Future Issues... |
|---|--|

The poems located throughout the journal are by sixth and seventh grade students taught by Margarel Schaffer at Hale Middle School in Los Angeles, CA.