

Humanistic Mathematics Network Journal #18

November 1998

From the Editor

Natural Math	1	Architecture and Mathematics: An Introduction for Elementary and Middle School Children	35
Maria Droujkova		Kim Williams
Do the Great While It Is Still Small: Humanistic Teaching in the Elementary School	10	Changing Ways of Thinking About Mathematics by Teach- ing Game Theory	40
John Eichinger		Ein-Ya Gura
The Legend of the Apple	16	Nine and One Third Circles of Rejoicing	45
Raul A. Simon		Michael Capobianco
Mathematics Found in Poetry	17	Manifesto on Mathematical Education	46
Alexis Mann		Saunders Mac Lane
Plastic Pebbles	21	from My Dance Is Mathematics: Poems From a Mathe- matics Teacher	47
Virginie H. Mitchem		JoAnne Growney
What Does Equality Mean?-- The Basque View	22	In Future Issues...
Marcia Ascher
On Solving Equations, Negative Numbers, and Other Absurdities: Part II	28
Ralph A. Raimi			